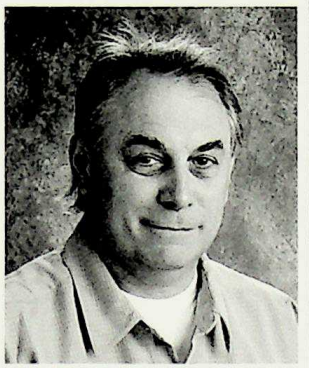
Principal's Message



Becoming a part of the pride is not only about belonging to a royal group, but also about becoming proud of who you are. As you look through these pages and reflect upon your time at Edith Rogers, consider how you contributed to our collective success. How did you make our world a better place? What goals did you accomplish? What are you going to do next? What will you need to do to reach those heights?

Together we have accomplished many things over the course of this year. The SPCA was able to help many needy animals because of the generosity of ER students and staff. Green hair never went to a more worthy cause. we grew in our use of technology and applied it to school work in greater ways than ever before. Homework club increased its membership with more students achieving stronger grades while enjoying pride activities. Student and staff challenges were close competitions that were difficult to dedice who wone, but were fun for all participants as well as observers.

As you think back on these days when you read through this book, know that ER is richer because you were here.

Best wishes for a bright, healthy and happy future.

Valedictorian's Address

Greetings to Mr. Cameron, Ms. Pichlyk, teachers, parents, and the graduating class of 2010. "There will be a time when you believe everything is finished. That will be the beginning," was once said by Louis L'Amour. I would like to welcome you to our Farewell. As you know I am your valedictorian. You might expect me to tell you that this is the day the journey at Edith Rogers of the Graduating class of 2010 ends; however, what I would like to tell you is that from this moment on, a new journey begins for all of us. Tonight we take a leap toward the next part of life that waits before us. This is the beginning of a life full of responsibilities, excitement, determination, and surprises.

For the last three years, our parents and teachers have been preparing us for this journey. They have taught us to take small steps in life in order to take this big leap into high school. Despite the preparation, many of us may not be ready to move on. And I say that it is ok to feel like you are not ready. It's not about where we stand right now; it's all about where we are going.

I have been at Edith Rogers for a short period of time; nevertheless, I had become fond of this school within my first week. Edith Rogers has been the smallest school (in size) that I have ever attended; however, it has been the most supportive school of all. It is the respect and determination of both students and staff that has made my time here so wonderful.

Every week students gained leadership by helping around the school. Some picked up their guitars and strived to learn their next music lesson. Others went out to capture a perfect moment, of the perfect "something", through the lenses of their cameras; still, others stayed in the Home Ec. Room and cooked delicious recipes that filled the hallways with irresistible aromas. I don't think any of us will ever be able to forget the experiences we had in Edith Rogers.

I think we, the class of 2010, have many things to be proud of. Ralph Waldo Emerson said, "Do not go where the path my lead; go instead where this is no path and leave a trail.". That is exactly what we have done. We have been the best graduating class this school ever had and probably ever will have. We didn't follow the path of anyone; we created a unique trail ourselves.

I would like to thank my classmates for always making me laugh and feel better on the days I was feeling down. To my friends and teachers, thank you for believing in me, even at times when I didn't believe in myself. Most importantly, I would like to thank my family for always motivating and inspiring me.

If I could find a way to explain to you how honoured I am to be here tonight, you would just have to look into my smiling face and the face of my mom--then you would know. Tonight I don't want to say goodbye because it would set a closing. Instead, as we walk down that trail that we have created, we will come across pivotal moments in our life when we think of ER and pause to remember. Hopefully, some of us will come back and share our shining accomplishments with our teachers. Enjoy the rest of the evening. Thank you.

--Mumtahin Monzoor
